

Banksia Bulletin article and photograph submission form

This form is provided to assist you in writing an article for inclusion in Banksia Bulletin. In order to be considered for publication, you must include information in as many fields as possible. This is important as it helps us ensure that the article and any photos are correctly attributed to the responsible author/photographer.

This is an electronic form that has been provided to help you submit your article.. Just click on the relevent field to enter your text. Make sure you save your work prior to closing.

Article Title

Tip: Good titles appeal to people's emotions and make them want to read more.

Subtitle

*Some ideas: What is your favourite line from your article?
Is there something particularly exciting that you wish to convey?*

Author

Position

Organisation

Ready to start writing? We have provided a space below for your article.

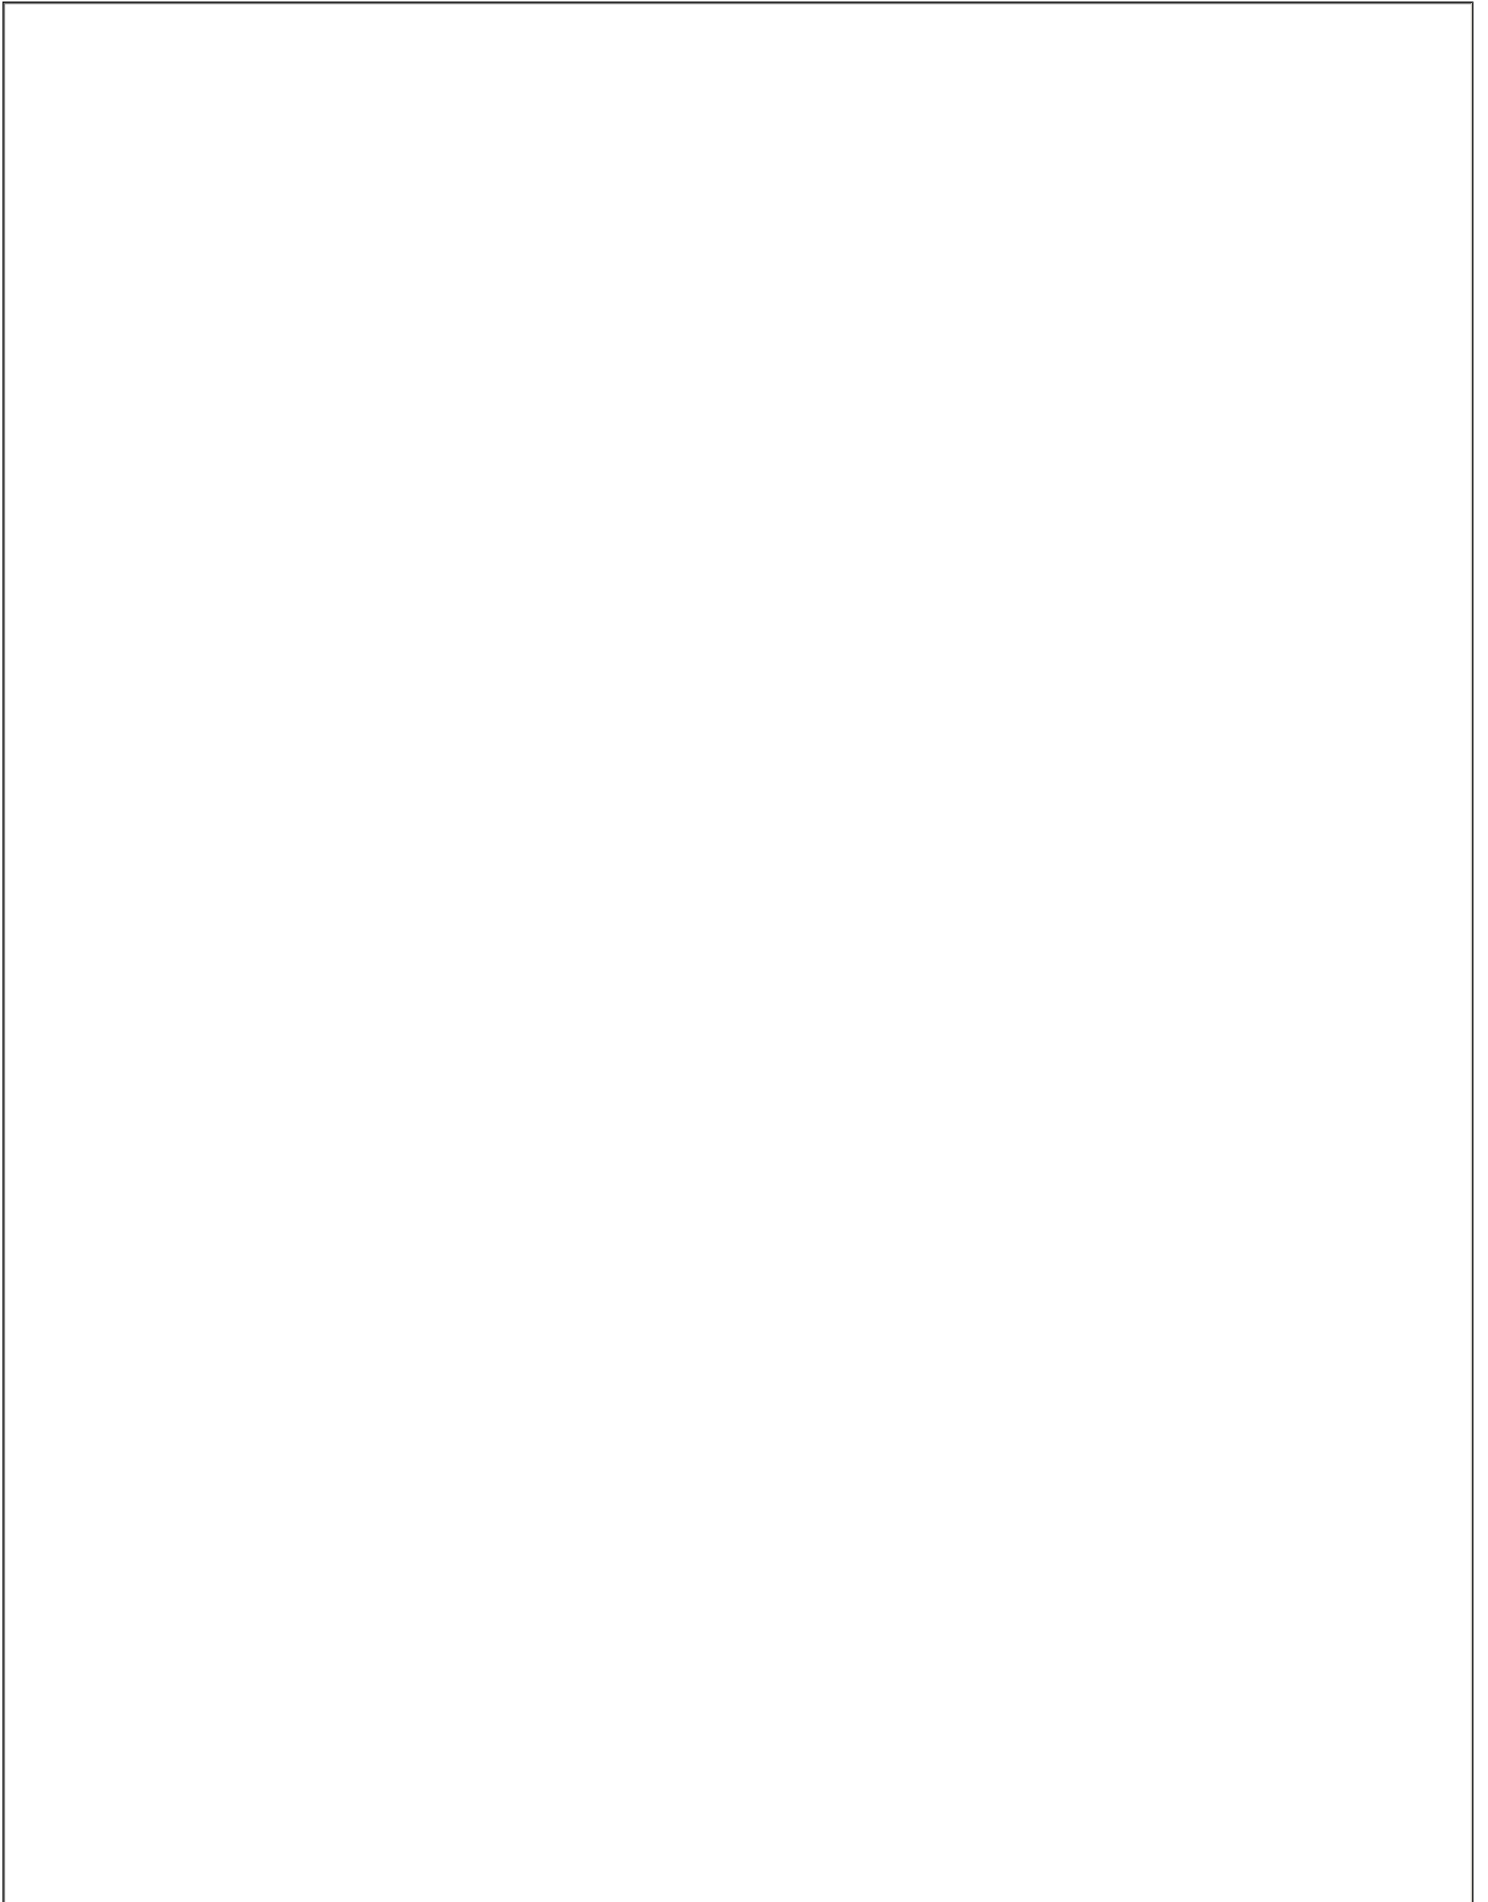

Word limit is 500 words

Ensure you use people's full names

Please use common followed by scientific name for any mentioned plants and animals

*eg Rakali (Hydromys chryogaster)*

article continued ..

Photographs

If you are providing photographs with your article, please fill out the fields below. We are not able to accept photographs that are provided without the following information

Photographs must be digital and of high resolution (minimum 300 dpi)

Photograph 1

Photograph name

Photographer

Full names of people appearing in photo

Caption

Photograph 2

Photograph name

Photographer

Full names of people appearing in photo

Caption

Photograph 3

Photograph name

Photographer

Full names of people appearing
in photo

Caption

I give permission for these photos to be used in the Banksia Bulletin, and have provided any necessary Photographic talent release forms. (note that for pictures of children, you must have permission from their primary caregiver).

Forms are available at http://www.bayside.vic.gov.au/environment_banksia_bulletin.htm

Please email your completed forms (plus any photos) to banksia@bayside.vic.gov.au